

April 2009

Dear Human Resource Professional:

With the economy declining and people needing to accomplish more with less, a number of employers and employees are seeking alternative transportation options. People to Jobs can help.

People to Jobs, a program that works to improve public transportation in cities and towns in Southwestern Connecticut, is pleased to provide Getting There – Making It Easy to Get to Work for your reference library.

Getting There is a resource containing valuable transit-related information that will assist current and prospective employees as well as colleagues seeking to access public transportation for travel to work as well as other essential activities in Southwestern Connecticut. Also enclosed is a poster highlighting the many transportation options available in the region.

People to Jobs is a project of The WorkPlace, Inc., Southwestern Connecticut's Regional Workforce Development Board, in partnership with the Connecticut Department of Social Services, Connecticut Department of Transportation, and the Federal Transit Administration.

We ask that you make this resource available to current and prospective employees and colleagues. We also invite you to learn more about People to Jobs at www.peopletojobs.org.

If you need additional resource material or require additional information, please complete the form enclosed and return via fax to (203) 610-8545. Resource material can also be requested via www.peopletojobs.org or by calling (203) 610-8544.

There is no cost to request material or information.

Sincerely,

Deborah Venditti
Program Manager, Transportation
